DISTRICT of COLUMBIA,

Alexandria County, ss.

WHEREAS Joseph Paxton has this day, by his petition in writing, applied to me, one of the judges of the Circuit Court for the district afforeaid, to be admitted to the benefit of the act of Congress for the relief of insolvent debtors, within the District of Columbia; and has stated therein, that he is now in actual confinement in the jail bounds in the county afforeaid, at the suit of Simon Steadicorn, and that being unable to discharge the said Steadicorn's claim, with others, against him, has offered to deliver up, for the use of his creditors, all his property, real personal and mixed: Notice is therefore hereby given, to the creditors of the said Paxton, to attend at the Court House of the county affore-aid, on Saturday the 21st day of this instant, at

ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS

REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber on the 29th of October last; a negro man slave named

B O B, about 20 years of age, five feet nine inches high straight limbed and well formed; said slave hath an impediment in his speech which prevents his readily replying to a question: He commonly wears ear-rings. He took with him a variety of good clothing, a description of which is unnecessary, as it is probable he has changed them. He has been frequently seen about town since he absconded, and in all probability is now secreted by his mother, Winney Brown, formerly the slave of Mr. JOHN MUIZ, late of this town, but now said to be free. The above reward will be paid for securing said Negro BOB, in any goal, and a further reward of TEN DOLLARS for the discovery of those who have been accessory to his concealment.

Captains of vessels, &c. are forewarned at their peril, not to take him away.

ROBERT B. JAMESON.

Among the valuable communications, which have adorned the columns of the Washington Federalist, the one subjoined, of a late date, brings such high matter to view in a manner partaking so much of the pungency, the fertility and neatness of Junius, that the Editor but discharges his duty by giving it all the currency it can obtain through the medium of this paper.

(Fred. Her.)

From the Washington Federalist.

"You all had seen that at the LUPERCAL, "I thrice presented him a kingly crown;
"Which he did thrice refuse—was this ambition?
"—Ambition should be made of stouter stuff."

To THOMAS JEFFERSON,

President of the United States, Emperor of Louisiana, Lord High Admiral of the Navy, &c. &c.

MY LORD,

I am told that such is your philosophy, and such too your political morality, that you can read any investigation of your conduct with perfect composure—Relying upon that innocence of heart, which an eternal smile of complacency presages, no scrutiny can draw a sigh from the one, or disturb the serenity of the other. Give me leave then, my lord, to address you in that spirit of freedom which republicanism emphatically calls her own, and of that candor which is the prerogative of a freeman.

I have but this moment received the information; that you have resolved by and with the "unanimous" [a] consent of the democrats in Congress, to be the president of America for four years more.

The shameless inconsistency which has uniformly marked your political life, ought to exclude the possibility of surprise at any thing you do—seeing, as we all have, your satyr feet in every measure of your ministry, no calculation of indecency could be too extravagant.

I confess indeed my lord, that I had indulged the fallacy, that all your wanton tricks were played, and that you were preparing to retire at a distance to review that scene of desolation you had caused, with renovated pleasure. It seems however, that the appetite of your ambition is not yet sated. The "bloody arena" of federal execution is not to be closed as yet, for you are to hold the victor's fasces for four years more.

Whatever of malevolence, conjoined with hypocrisy, characterised the Mazzei letter; whatever of ambition, and the lowest grade of it, my lord, could bribe and flatter Callender; whatever of duplicity pervades each sentence of the inaugural essay; in short, my lord, whatever of all these could pen the answer to New Haven, your present resolution gives a magnitude to all—you seem indeed to have refined upon yourself—Nothing can surpass the fragrance of your present imposition, but the impudence with which it is incurred—Nothing can surpass the deception of your sentiments, but that credulity of the nation, which could believe in their sincerity.

When was it, my Lord High Admiral of the Navy, that you first abandoned that political article of belief, that there should be a "rotation in office in every instance," AND MOST PARTICULARLY IN THE CASE OF THE [b] PRESIDENT? Is it, that you have a memory as treacherous as your heart, which buries in oblivion your opinions in former seasons, or is it, that your heart alone is treacherous to every honest sentiment which might then pervade it? Is it, that you have had the rare obliquity of head, never to have conceived a truth on government, or is it, that you have had that rare turpitude of heart, never to have practised one.

Review you, my lord, from those times which stamped America a "Nation of the Earth," to these thine own improsperous days, and you present a life of that kind of potent, [c] chequered transformation, which poets fancy only had conceived, until you [a] See the National Intelligencer of the 25th of February, which says, "that Thomas Jefferson was unanimously nominated for the next president."

[b] See certain letters of Mr. Jefferson, written in 1788 and '89, on the subject of the constitution. These letters were published by a friend of Mr. Jefferson's to prove him a Federalist in '92. Extracts of these letters may be seen in a pamphlet said to be written by W.
Smith of S. Carolina, entitled the pretensions of Jefferson, and the charges against Adams examined.

[c] Smith himself owns, in his stupid eulogium on his master in his paper of the second instant that Jefferson's life has been "chequered." exemplified it. You seem to have had the singular fatality of sometimes thinking justly, to exhibit in your conduct, the converse of the sentiment, and of sometimes acting wisely to inculcate an opposite deportment.

You published once indeed, my lord you did, and your [d] Notes on Virginia will evince it, some soft and flowing sentences to prove the danger of admitting aliens to participate in government; but since that time you have spoken softer [e] touches to the soul to invite them to its profits—since that time you have initiated foreigners into the secrets of our cabinet, opened wide your arms of embrace towards them, and placed the [f] purse-strings of the nation in their hands. Wherefore these opposite opinions? Are they to be found in the honest feelings of virtuous recantation, or in those of a vile and sinister apostasy?— To acknowledge and retract our errors, and more especially political, requires magnanimity. Magnanimity, my lord, is a greatness of soul—it deals not in low and secret stratagem—I entreat your lordship not to think of Washington and Mazzei, of Callender and Adams, and then to deduce the inference.

To follow you through all the windings of your conduct, to array before the public each opinion you have published with its present contrast, would be an undertaking as unnecessary as it is indefinite. The world has seen the most of them already, and the thinking part of it I trust has stored them in indelible record. I shall leave you then to your own arrangement of the subject, and to that self-operation of the mind, which cannot fail to bring them in review. Before however, I tender you my "homage" of adieu, suffer me to ask, my Lord, have you any recollection of certain letters which you wrote from Paris in the year 1783 and 1789, upon the subject of the constitution; and that a friend of yours less fortunate than zealous, published partial extracts from them in '92, to vindicate your federalism.
I shall not stop here to enquire of your lordship, whether it was the officious act of friendship which proved you what you never were, or whether you have since discerned, that to be a federalist is to be a tory. Whether you ever were a federalist and have ab-jured the appellation, or whether you were then what I now think you, both an [g] "impostor and an apostate."

The extracts to which I allude are now before me, and give me leave to solicit your attention to the following quotation: Speaking of the constitution, you say, "the 2d [h] feature which I dislike and greatly dislike is the abandonment in every instance of the necessity of rotation in office, AND MOST PARTICULARLY IN THE CASE OF THE PRE-SIDENT?" Here, my Lord, let us pause together. In that day of danger and uncertainty, when the people of America were tossed upon the tempestuous sea of liberty without an anchor—without a rulder to their bark, you raised your voice of dissent to the only measure which at that time could secure both their liberties and their safety. I say, my Lord, you objected to the constitution, because there was no provision in the instrument establishing rotation in the presidential office.
It is not my object to examine the propriety of such a principle. It might be however but common charity to think, that your objection flowed from the purest principle of the love of country. The chains of America's political thralldom had just been rent asunder, and in the reeligibility of the President you saw too much of presi-

[d] See notes on Virginia; last edition pages 90, 91, 92.

[e] See the message to congress in December 1801.

[f] Albert Gallatin, a Genevese, is the Secretary of the Treasury. The same Albert who was Secretary at Madison's old fields to the meeting which occasioned the western insurrection and on that account, no doubt the dearest to Mr. J.

[g] The infamous Tom Paine applied these epithets to General Washington, see his letter to that illustrious man; Mr. J. then will not find fault with their indecency. Tom is the apple of his eye, the darling of his soul, the man for whom he plays "may you live long to complete your labor!" This very letter was one of his labors! Oramus God! When will the people see the rottenness of this mammoth's heart?

[h] Hah, though gentle petting, murmuring stream, the feature you allude to is the no feature.
Mr. Jefferson knows about as much of the properties of speech as he does of government. He is a mere intonating twaddler in both. His style is very gentle and captivating; so are his manners, and so indeed are his political doctrines; but we always find under a natural or an artificial meaningless about it, full of latitudes, golifisms and idiosyncrasies; he can make a sentence dance to all the strains of an elegy, but then, tis but a mournful song at last, and has just about as much sense or sincerity in it as the tear of a hired mourner or a Crocodile.

dential power, and in that power, the ripening germ of danger to her liberties—er-was it, peradventure, that your opposition emanated from a different source? Did you not foresee, my Lord, that the victorious general of our armies would become the President of our councils? That that man who had bared his breast to every danger, who knew not the slumbers of forgetfulness, nor the safety of a mountain cave in the day of his country's peril, must stand pre-eminent—"First in battle, first in his country's love." Who could compare with him in times of peace? I entreat your lordship to examine well the secret feelings of your bosom at that time, sift the silister ambition of your soul and say, what hopes you had from the principle of "rotation," what fears from the "abandonment" of it?

I will not however torture you with questions. It is important to my present explaining, that in the first instance, you advocate principles of "rotation" from virtuous or dishonest motives, from disinterested or selfish views; I now contend to know that you have abandoned principles which you once professed to love, and that you have abandoned them too, in your personal promotion of fortune, and retention of power. The gentle voice of charity bids you these things you have done; but the earnest years have brought you to the point of them, and you have seen the errors of your former days: I am no stranger to your talent in equivocation, nor to that impudent with which you can deceive. They have poured the perficious influences by which you have refined the perfidy, and by which you are likely to hold it; but, my Lord, what new fidelity will you now advance to deny your past sins in '92? What new hardihood of front to glaze the impression? In '88 you clamoured for rotation.
In every progressive step of subsequent administrations, until you, my Lord, became the primary motive of government, the clamor was continued; no chord of popular devotion was left untouched to rouse the nation's jealousy.
'Twas said that the republic of America was fast verging to a monarchy; the constitutional "feature"—the want of rotation in the presidency had rendered the incumbent of the office a tyrant, a Mazzei, and over-whelming torrent, which was sweeping from our land all vestige of its freedom. So anxious were you for the retention of "rotation," and for jealousy at the view of it, that you aimed at introducing it in the Senate, and all the offices of government. So zealous were your party for the introduction of this principle, that I have known it to have been, with many, the highest respected blessing from your ministry. Nay, my Lord, you can not have forgotten how prettily that favorite [i] child of yours enlarged upon this principle, when he followed the suffrage of the Gales' district. His he forgotten too the sentiments he uttered? My Lord I have not. The grand colored banner to your Lordship has informed us that you were elected to be the President again by an "unanimous" approbation. An "unanimous" approbation? I fear that you have stolen to this young man's couch, and have poured the libel poison into the pouches of his ear. That you, who have fed the nation to believe in your superior virtue, greatness and divinity, should find no difficulty in earning what you peddle upon the feelings of your kindred, is easily supposable.
There are among us all, certain kindred prepusitions, which dance around our hearts in such fascinating manner as to impede the optics of the soul: They can find "Helen's beauty in a brow of Egypt," and see the vermilion of a rose in the persuence of a carbuncle. The fe-blest glimmering of a genius becomes, by them, the brightest luminosity of science, and but an ordinary instance of benevolence receives the honor of every virtue. I am told indeed, my Lord, that your acquisitions in the mind's eye of your relations to others of this world, are in the ratio of your dwelling to the surrounding country; open but your eye and your vision is obstructed only by the boundless extent of the scene.

Ton-h but a science, and your ken compares with space; you are indeed the very mountain of a man, and the inhabitants of every village round you, are but the Lilliputians to a Goliath: In short, my lord, you were made for your mountain, and your mountain was made for you. The owner, and the owner's ass, in Sterne, were never better suited. The wonder is, how your Lordship can bear a separation from it for four years more!!

I feel then no excitement of surprise, that in your change, your son in law should follow your example: Will not, my lord, the satellite revolve

[i] Mr. Eppes, who married the daughter, and who is the nephew of the president. This gentleman, when he offered to represent the district from which Giles had come stated three fundamental grounds upon which he wished to be elected, and which he promised, if effected, to adhere to; one was the subjection of the judiciary to the legislative branch of the government; another the alteration of the legislature in this way; that the Senate should be elected in the same way, and for the same time that the house of representatives is; a third was that no man should be re-eligible to the presidency for two successive terms.
This gentleman however is one of the hundred & seven members of Congress, who unanimously renounced Jefferson again. No doubt he will have some hole to creep out at. See Mr. Eppes addresses to the voters of his district.

REANIMATION.

WHEN the most important functions of life are suspended, and those who are invalids by imprudence, inheritance, accident or disease, are tottering upon the brink of the grave, it is not in despair that relief is to be found. There is a medicine which has restored thousands from infirmity and misery to health and happiness, which is

THE AROMATIC LOZENGES OF STEEL.

Since this excellent medicine was first discovered by Dr. Bardwell, several thousand females have experienced its salutary effects; many of whom had been reduced to the brink of the grave having used every remedy recommended as specific in those complaints, and had made every application to the faculty that could be obtained. The following recent case is selected from a numerous list.

From Mrs. Eleanor Wadsworth, Providence, (R. I.)

Sir, WE received yours and with much pleasure comply with your request, as my daughter has certainly received very great benefit from Dr. Bardwell's Aromatic Lozenges of Steel.

In the winter of 1862 my daughter, who is in her 17th year, caught a very severe cold, which with the violent fever which accompanied it, confined her to her room upwards of four months; during this period we paid for Doctors bills and consultations 150 dollars. The fever left her in the most deplorable, and debilitated state with hardly any use of her limbs, so that we were obliged to carry her from the bed to the chair. Being strongly persuaded by the Doctor we went to Bull-Town Springs and stayed the season, and thought she gained considerable strength by the use of the waters; but by the fatigue of the passage (having very rough weather) she became as weak and her cough much worse than before. During the last winter her whole nervous system has been so irritable, and her spirits so low and depressed, that death to her was desirable. In the latter end of January we saw an advertisement recommending the Lozenges of Steel for similar complaints, we immediately purchased a packet of them, and before the whole of them were taken, they evidently produced a change in her system, which no medicine before had been able to effect, we sent for two more packets. It is now fourteen days since she began to mend; she has laid aside her crutches, has been twice on horse back, and if the weather should prove favorable we intend coming to Peekskill early in April to stop until we go to Bull-Town Springs; from there we will send you our address, where with pleasure we will satisfy any enquiries.

Price one Dollar per Packet.

Particular directions for their use are sealed up with each box as the great benefit to be derived from them can only be secured by having them genuine, the public are requested to observe that the name of Thomas Stokes & Co. is affixed to each packet, without which mark of authenticity they are not genuine.

The Lozenges of Steel, are only to be had, in Alexandria, of Messrs.

R. & J. GRAY,

WHO HAVE ALSO ON HAND,

A SUPPLY OF

Family & Patent Medicines,

—CONSISTING OF—

Chambaud's Antasthmatic Lozenges;

Ayue and Fever Drops; Antibilious Pills; Annodyne

Essence for Head Aches; Reanimating Solar Tincture; Dr. Bardwell's genuine Eye Water; Atkinson's Essence of Mustard; Scotch Ointment for the Itch; Tooth Ach Drops; Aromatic Lozenges;

Essence of the Woods, &c. &c.

Dr. Hunter's genuine Antibilious Pills,

For the prevention and cure of Yellow,

Bilious and Putrid Fevers.

Every experienced physician knows what dangerous disorders arise from a redundancy of bile in the habit; however salutary a due secretion of this fluid may be, yet a diffusion of it in the circulation is known, from its putrescent qualities, to bring on sudden and fatal fevers. The unparalleled success of Dr. Hunter's Antibilious Pills, in curing, and particularly in preventing this dreadful disease, is universally known in the islands, and has induced the proprietor to appoint agents in all the mercantile towns in the United States, for the accommodation of the public.

The Antibilious Pills are therefore, in an especial manner, recommended as a preventative, deserving the notice of all persons going to the West Indiandlands, or any of these places infected with these fevers. Dr. Hunter has every possible reason, that can result from long and extensive experience, for believing that a dose of these pills, taken once every fourteen days, during the prevalence of our fall fevers, will prove an infallible preventative, and that, if taken in the early stages of these fevers, their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases effected desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, may be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

In sickly times and places a dose should be taken once a fortnight, and if there is reason to apprehend personal danger, once a week.

Observe that the signature of Messrs. Thos.

Stokes and Co. is affixed to each box, without which mark of authenticity they are not genuine.

Dr. Atkinson's genuine Essence of Mustard.

Rheumatism is every stage, instantly submits to its pe-netrizing powers, which has succeeded in curing the most deleterious cases of rheumatism: gout, lumbago, sciatica, numbness, palsy and complaints of the stomach, after spurious medicines have proved ineffectual. It is prepared in pills, and also in a fluid form. The pills are particularly serviceable in flatulencies, and indigestion, and by their salutary operation, promote perspiration, and gradually ulation in the are affected; by this means, frozen limbs, the feverish spasms and bruises, old strains and excoriations, are generally cured by a few applications. The genuine is distinguished from counterfeits, by the signature of Thomas Stokes and Co. being affixed to each bottle; without which mark of authenticity, none are genuine.

The genuine Scotch Itch Ointment.

The only medicine that cures this disagreeable disease, by one application, to many thousands having experienced its efficacy; it is unnecessary to add any more arguments in its favor, but to caution the public that the name Thos. Stokes and Co. is affixed to each box, without this mark of authenticity, none are genuine.

Dr. Bardwell's genuine Eye Water.

A favorite remedy for all diseases of the eyes; speedily removes inflammation, dimness, itching, and films it never fails to cure those maladies which frequently succeed the measles, small pox, and fever; and is an unparalleled strengthener of a weak sight.

Dr. Hunter's genuine Antibilious Pills.

An agreeable and certain preventive of the predisposition to inflammatory and malignant fever, which prevails at particular seasons of the year. The rapid and increasing demand from every part of the United States, and the West India islands, is the best evidence of their superior excellence.

CHAMBAUD'S Antasthmatic Lozenges.

A radical cure for coughs, colds, asthma and catarrhs, difficulty of breathing, &c. &c.

Mr. CHAMBAUD, the sole proprietor of this medicine, has the satisfaction to announce that they have been the means of relieving many persons in a most precarious state of health. In common colds this medicine produces so salutary a perspiration that they generally are eradicated in a few hours. Coughing, being prolonged by that convulsive symptom termed the tickling in the throat, it shortens its duration by promoting sleep and strengthening the constitution. Pulmonary complaints, affecting the breath and lungs; those affected with them experience an almost immediate relief. Asthma and confined consumptions have repeatedly been eradicated by them. Infants in the whooping cough, and women during pregnancy, may take them without the least fear of danger, and with the greatest expectation of relief, nor can it be administered at an improper season.

Dr. BARDWELL'S

Annodyne Essence, for all kinds of Head Aches.

THE renowned virtues of the Annodyne essence, is now so generally known, that it is no presumption in the Proprietor, to say, that Head Aches, arising from whatever cause, or however violent, instantly submit to its penetrating powers. This invaluable Annodyne, has frequently succeeded after the best advice, and every other remedy had failed; by its salutary operation, it inflexibly promotes circulation and perspiration, and thereby prevents the return of the most obstinate periodical head aches.

SPRING PHYSIC.

DR. HUNTER'S Anti-Bilious Pills are unquestionably proved by ample experience to be the most effectual remedy, at the same time the most innocent, pleasant, and convenient medicine for the cure of scurvy, scorbutic eruptions, leprosy, and other disorders originating from a corruptive state of the blood. The remarkable cure of Mr. Elihu, of Albany, who had been twelve years tormented with a most distressing scorbutic complaint, as also that of Thomas Johnson, a labouring man, in the service of Mr. Van Rensselaer, who was afflicted with a most horrid leprosy, must have convinced every one who has read the particulars of these cases, besides which, a variety of proofs of their efficacy, authenticated by persons of character and respectability are open to the examination of every inquirer. These pills naturally are supposed to have their due weight, and supercede the necessity of any further comment from the Proprietor, yet, he presumes to assert, that the real merits of this vegetable preparation will, on a fair trial, plead more forcible in its own recommendation than any thing which can be said of it.

What also may be had,

Atkinson's Worm Destroying Lozenges.—These Lozenges not only destroy worms where they exist, but effectually prevent their return. These families who have followed Dr. Atkinson's advice, and used them in the Spring and Fall among their children, as their comm in physic, have new the happiness to find those children, which appeared sickly and consumptive, in the bloom of health, being entirely delivered from those dreadful vermin.

Sparta, Mount Pleasant,

March 27, 1863.

We hereby certify, that our daughter, about 4 years of age, has been very unwell and in a bad state of health for these last two years. We always suspected that she had worms, and had given her several worm medicines, without any good effect, so that we despaired raising her till of late. Hearing of some surprising cures being performed by Atkinson's worm destroying Lozenges, we purchased a packet of them, and administered them according to the directions. The first dose brought away only one worm, and with it a quantity of slimy, offensive matter; the second brought away four monstrous thick worms nearly half a yard in length; and the third dose, a large quantity of a slimy, offensive matter. The vomiting and purging, with which she was frequently troubled have ceased—her appetite has become regular, and has over since enjoyed a perfect state of health, for which we are entirely indebted to this excellent medicine.

Re-animating Solar Tincture, or Pabulum of Life

Of the cure of Consumption and Asthma, Disorders in the Stomach and Bowels, Convulsions, Cholera and Dilentry.

Cautious investigation, and attentive enquiry into the nature and laws of the animal economy, having long confirmed an opinion in the mind of the inventor, that all the maladies above mentioned, derive their origin from the same cause, indirect debility, or consequent weakness, the analogy of their source, by a natural inference suggested the idea of their removal by the same means; the result was the discovery of the Re-animating Solar Tincture, which after having been employed in thousands of instances, with the most unexampled and astonishing success, has obtained the warmest approbation of characters of the first respectability, both in and out of the profession; the proprietors can confidently recommend as one of the most certain, efficacious, and pleasant re-

Price 1 dollar, and 1 dollar 50 cents per bottle. The large bottle contains nearly two of the small. Copious Directions for their use are sealed up with each bottle.

Dr. Stoughton's Cordial Bitters, faithfully prepared at the original warehouse, London.

This incomparable medicine has stood the test of universal approbation in Europe for near an hundred years, in the cure and prevention of,

Loss of appetite, bad digestion, windy cholera, agues, hysterical vapours, faintness and trembling, acute and chronic fevers, depressed spirits, foul breath, worms in children, scurvy, obstructions or stop-ages, bilious fevers, sick fits, &c. &c.

These Bitters being now generally used in taverns and public places, and universally acknowledged by all who have tried their effects, to be superior to the compositions formerly imposed in imitation thereof; the proprietor has reduced the price to those who purchase largely above fifty per cent. Directions will be pat on the Bottles, and which will be also sealed, in order to detect counterfeits and upstart pretenders, who will all tell you, they make the genuine Stoughton's Bitters; and in order to impute their trash on the public, they sometimes copy a part of the true advertisement and directions.

Specific Drops for Deafness.

FOR many years have these drops been used with amazing success, in DEAFNESS & HARDNESS OF HEARING. Those who are acquainted with the great relief afforded by this valuable medicine, are earnestly recommended to trial. Few are the cases in which it has not been of great service, and very often perfected a complete cure.

Copious directions for the use of the Specific Drops for Deafness are sealed up with each bottle. Price one dollar.
